Gardening club June Gilbury

Our meeting for October will be on Thursday 15th and our speaker will be Brian Church who will give an illustrated talk. All are welcome at the Post Office at 7.30.

Erme Valley Riding for the Disabled. Peggy Douglas

The sun shone on us yet again for our annual Steeplechase. Thanks to Jim and all his team for work before, during and after the event. So many people give their time every year and we are so grateful. The final profit is in the region of £5,500!

If you attended you will be aware that we had a faller during the last race. I'm glad to report that nothing was broken and the St. John's Paramedic, (Belinda) and doctor in attendance gave first class treatment and a speedy delivery to hospital.

Back to work! By the time the Newsletter reaches you we will have taken part in the largest riding lesson in the world to celebrate National R.D.A's 40th year. We have organised training in First Aid and Safeguarding children this term.

Our horses are all back from their Summer Holidays and we will be soon organising for the Annual 'horsey' news. All sessions are now running as usual. We are particularly short of helpers on Thursday mornings and evenings. We are also in need of help with some chores around the yard - fencing, repairing and painting of jumps. We are getting closer to setting up our website and also organising a video for publicity.

You don't need to be 'horsey' to offer your help with these or anything else mentioned in the above item!

Thanks- Peggy Douglas- 0788 2286421 or 01752 894348

Ugborough and Bittaford Pre- School. Naomi Williams

Ugborough and Bittaford pre-school is a friendly, fun and safe environment in which children can learn and thrive, guided and supported by qualified and caring staff. Our close links with the Primary School ensure the children have daily access to extend their play outside and we are able to organise regular visits prior to them starting school, making the transition easier for them.

The pre-school welcomes children from 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ years old to school age, offering two FREE taster sessions so that you and your child get the opportunity to come and see the setting and meet the staff prior to starting.

Our opening hours are Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 9.00am until 12.45pm, and Wednesday 9.00am until 2.00pm, term time only. If you would like more information about the pre-school, a prospectus or to visit the setting, please contact either Tania or Naomi on 07763 215455.

Ugborough Parish Walking Group Merryl Docker

A new young walker joined us in September; 2 year old Alfie Johns who seemed to thoroughly enjoy waddling around with the dogs and showing us all how stiles should be negotiated. To his little legs, the walk must have seemed like a marathon, but it just goes to show, enthusiasm is more important than size (!)

Our next walk will be on Sunday 4th October 10.45 a.m. Ugborough Square. All are welcome, whatever your age or size, and so are your canine companions. I cannot believe how we have gone from spring flowers to autumn berries so very quickly. I wonder how the season of mists and mellow fruitfulness will treat us this year. Come along to see some more beautiful hidden corners of our wonderful Parish, and enjoy a pint and a spot of lunch afterwards in one of our local pubs.

Contact Merryl Docker (01752 893651) or Tom Holway (01752 893114) for more details.

Village Fair Committee

We will be holding our A.G.M. on Tuesday October 13th at 7pm in the Village Hall committee room. Anyone wishing to join us, either as a committee member or to contribute in any way to our future Fair activities, would be most welcome.

Ugborough Bookworms

Beryl's Bookgroup read The Forgotten Garden by Kate Morton. This was a delightful, easy summer read. Most of the Group enjoyed it and were intrigued by the mystery. Next month we tackle the demanding Alias Grace by Margaret Atwood. Watch this space!

Reviews by Anne Nonymus

Plain Truth by Jodi Picoult

This was my first read of this author, but I shall now read more. It was brilliant! The story evolves around an Amish community, where a dead infant is found in one of their barns. The police investigation leads to more disclosures and Katie Fisher, the mother of the baby, is put on trial. She is defended by Ellie Hatherway who experiences the life of the Amish community for nearly the whole story. The Amish way of life is depicted very clearly and I found this fascinating.

Great characters, an emotional roller-coaster ride..... You won't want to put it down!

For the children-

Too tight, Benito! By Janeen Brian and Judith Rossell

The illustrations are just delightful, in this lovely story of Benito the bear who wants to find a cubby-hole to sleep in through the winter. He meets many other creatures along the way - but knows where he is better off eventually.

I read this to a group of under 6s - all were enthralled!

SPORTS REPORT- Janner Motson

HOLIDAY OVER FOR UGGIES

The new season kicked off in mid-September, but the Uggies were unable to conjure the first win in either Under 9 or Under 11 leagues. The younger side played well against a strong Roselands side, but looked a little rusty and went down 1-2 despite great keeping from Henry Wright and another excellent display from Matt Warman. The good news was that the 6 year olds had a run-out against the Roselands B team and look very promising.

The older Uggies could only muster 7 players from a squad of 15 and with key players missing they really offered only limited resistance to Dartmouth. Despite excellent effort all round they lost 4-0, but hopefully have had some good match practice. Director of Football, Johann Ross-Cruyff, held his hand up and told Sports Report; "We spent big in the summer, but forgot to tell the players to come back from their holidays. We have the right set-up, but didn't set it up right. Manager Steve 'Micky' Evans had no bench to choose from so we are off down the carpenters to get one...and some fluffy pillows to see if we can entice them back. I don't blame individuals, except for that coach of course."

The U13s have yet to start the campaign despite a 3-3 friendly draw with Manstow. It seems that they came back from holiday OK, but have started the mid-season break a bit earlier than usual.

Ugborough Village Hall Stafford Williams (Secretary)

A quiet summer saw the installation of the new sound system. It is kept under lock and key, but anyone needing it can get instruction from the committee when they commit to a hire. Many thanks to the Parish Council for their grant funding, and also to the School for making up the difference. Just another great facility from the team that brought you blockbusters such as 'The Wall', 'The Kitchen Cupboard' and not forgetting 'The Table-Tennis Tables'!

Business seems a little slow in the village generally, so if you fancy parties as good as we have seen in recent years, try getting a few enthusiasts together and hiring the Hall for a bash. Remember 'Around the World', 'Murder Mystery' and 'Valentines in the Blitz'? Why don't you have a go at organising the next big success?

Ugborough Primary School

This term we welcome Katie Evans to the school as a KS2 teacher in Ladywell as well as our new Reception children. It has been a good start to what is a busy term with the children working very hard!

The pre school project has now reached the planning permission stage and the Friends of Ugborough School are delighted to support the fundraising.

We have an OHP for sale (£10 ono) as well as laptop bags - please contact the school office on 892489.

A Big Thank you from The 'Friends of Ugborough School'. Charity no. 1047174

We have been very busy fundraising and with your help, support and the money raised over the last twelve months we have been able to help refurbish Hillhead Classroom and the ICT suite. We have also provided creative arts activities, atlases, playground equipment, made environmental improvements as well as subsidised school trips and visits. At the end of last term the whole school went on a trip to Bigbury Beach paid for by the money raised from the children taking part in the 'Seed Project'. Without your continued support we would not have been able to achieve any of this - so once again thank you from us all. We look forward to seeing you at some of our events over the next twelve months including.....

Your Stars Tonight.

The steamed dieter settles into her deckchair on St Ives beach and pointedly remarks that she is privileged to have Parish Newsletter contributors who provide their copy on time even when she is on holiday. "And while I am on the subject of the newsletter" she remarks somewhat tartly "I am not aware of any astronomical value from the scantily clad young ladies you are observing through the binoculars". I begin to make a feeble joke about planetary orbs but the steely glint brings me up short. As the sunshine of the surprise 'Indian Summer' warms my old bones I fall back into a peaceful reverie on another little known wonder of the night skies - double stars.

On the next clear night look at the Plough and focus the binoculars on the middle star of the Plough's "handle". With even low power binoculars this star (named Mizar) is resolved as a double star - and with a little patience on a clear night the brightest star becomes a second double. Double stars come in a huge variety of sizes and colours ranging from identical twins (which are fairly rare) to multiple stars of hugely different size colour and brightness. A superb example (it needs a little effort to find it but it's well worth dusting off the star map) is in the constellation of Cygnus (the Swan) which is currently visible before midnight in the South West. Cygnus looks like a slightly misshapen cross with the extended swan neck and head pointing to the Western horizon. The star that makes up the head is Albireo and with binoculars it separates out into a topaz orange star and a smaller star with definite sapphire tint.

If you managed to find Cygnus, try a more tricky target - the insignificant constellation of Delphinus (the Dolphin) which has a couple of double star delights. From Cygnus look a little to the left towards the still bright orange planet Jupiter. Delphinus is made up of 5 faint stars and covers the area about the size of two full moons. Through binoculars both the top left hand and bottom right hand stars are in fact close doubles - well worth a look. For more information a quick search on the internet will provide several listings such as "the top 100 double stars".

Astronomers have now discovered that that most stars are in fact multiple stars which revolve around each other in a complex dance of gravitational attraction. Our own sun is an exception - but if its biggest planet, Jupiter had grown about 10 times larger it would have been massive enough to ignite its own nuclear reactions and so become a mini star circling our sun shining with its own light rather than the sun's reflected light as it does now. Living on a planet with two suns could be challenging when looking for a shady place on the beach!

Tales of Harvests past.

UGBOROUGH. - On the 18th of September, this picturesque village was the scene of much festivity and gaiety, Lady Carew having given her annual treat to the labouring inhabitants of the parish - her practice at the close of harvest. About 80 men were provided with a substantial dinner of roast beef and plum pudding, with a plentiful allowance of good beer to warm their hearts; and in the evening, 100 women, (their wives, daughters, &c.) were regaled with tea and cake; and ample justice having been done to the excellent fare so bountifully provided. A variety of rural sports followed, which continued till midnight, when the joyous party retired to their houses, having passed an exceedingly happy day. The tables laid out in a field adjoining the village, and Lady Carew, T. Carew, Esq. and his lady, with other members of this much respected family were present, and were highly gratified on witnessing the manner in which everyone enjoyed the treat. In the evening the respectable yeomen of the parish were entertained at supper, at her ladyship's desire, the large school rooms being fitted up for the occasion. Mr. A. White, Lady Carew's steward, presided; and on the removal of the cloth, the loyal and patriotic toasts being drunk, the health of her Ladyship was given, and received with every possible enthusiasm: and long life and happiness to Lady Carew was responded to from every bosom, - her Ladyship's kindness of heart, and her benevolence to the poor in particular, having greatly endeared her to all classes in the neighbourhood.

Parishioners' views and expectations dominated the September meeting, as the results of the Housing Needs Survey and Parish Plan questionnaire were announced. Rural Housing Needs Officer John Scott will be presenting the Draft Housing Needs report at the November meeting, and its findings are yet to be confirmed - however, it does suggest that 8 affordable homes will be needed in the Parish.

The Parish Plan Survey was completed by 356 parishioners and broadly supported the issues brought to Parish Council Meetings by your Councillors. The majority of respondents consider:

- More employment is needed in the Parish, particularly in Agriculture (60%)
- More tourism should be encouraged in the Parish (48%) and that visitors need more information on the Parish (45%)

- More facilities of local schools should be available to the local community outside school hours (49%)
- Non-school-time facilities for young people aged 15-24 were poor (33%)
- The footpath network for walking and riding in the Parish was generally suitable (71%)
- The following should be done to roads, lanes and paths to make the local countryside better: Remove litter (48%); keep roadside verges mown and tidy (39%); signpost paths and bridleways (37%); and open more footpaths and bridleways (34%). Only 22% respondents wanted to let the roadside verges grow for wildlife
- More maps of public footpaths and bridleways should be put up in the Parish (92%)
- Dogs mess is a problem in the Parish (37%) - although 32% considered it was not a problem
- More dog waste bins are needed in the Parish (39%)
- A renewable energy source would be useful for the Parish (37%)
- Speeding traffic is seen as the main crime and safety concern (56%), although 35% of respondents would not wish to see further speed restrictions
- Road maintenance needs improving in the Parish (49%)
- More local outdoor sports facilities are needed for children up to 16 (41%)
- The village halls are adequate for the needs of the Parish (69%)
- The level of service provided by the Parish Council was Good (25%) or Reasonable (35%) and that your elected representatives on the Parish Council was sufficiently aware of local concerns and feelings (74%)
- The degree of planning control in the Parish was reasonable (34%) and that sufficient publicity was given to planning applications (41%)
- The Parish should develop as a balanced community (61%)
- They would support development of affordable housing for local people in the Parish if there was a proven need (88%)

This is just a small snapshot of the findings of the survey - for the full survey, have a look at the Parish Council website, ugboroughparishcouncil.gov.uk. The next step is to prepare the Parish Plan, based on the findings of the survey.

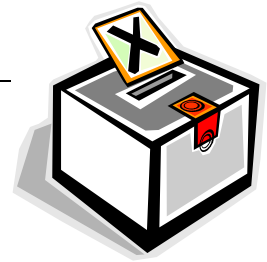

Dogs Mess is a recurrent issue - this time, complaints had been received that bags of dogs mess were being hung along the hedgerow in the lane above Hillside, Bittaford. SHDC Street Scene Officers will be keeping an eye on the problem and will be imposing Fixed Penalty fines of £75 or more - over £2000 following prosecution in the Magistrates Court.

Promoting the local economy Make the most of your local business through a web link from the Parish Council website. Please contact the Clerk on ugboroughpc@yahoo.co.uk if you would like a link to your business website.

Tree Preservation Orders Councillors objected to the proposed TPO of the ash tree south of 13-14 Seldons Close, Ugborough on the grounds that the tree may need remedial work and the leaves constituted a hazard on the footpath. The proposed TPO at Hill House, Ugborough - to which the Parish Council had objected - has been 'reassessed', so that the Monterey Cypress can be felled, provided it is replaced by a Katsura (don't ask me what that is!).

The next Parish Council meeting will be held at 7.30pm on Thursday 8th October. You are welcome to attend.

Church news- Honour for Peter Povey

The Revd. Dr. Peter Povey has recently been elected and installed as Master of the Worshipful Company of Carpenters of the City of London. The history of the Carpenters' Company goes back over 700 years, with the first written reference being a mention of a Master Carpenter in the City of London's records of 1271. It was originally a medieval trade guild, set up to look after the welfare and interests of carpenters living and working in London - one of a number of ancient guilds being created at this time. Its first Book of Ordinances dates from 1333. The Company received its first Royal Charter in 1477, and in 1515 was ranked 26 in order of precedence out of the 48 City Livery Companies then existing. There are now 110 Companies in the City, two without livery.

The Company's considerable influence over the building trade reduced after the Great Fire of 1666, when many timber buildings were rebuilt in brick and stone. However, the Company, unlike some others, still retains close links with its original craft and remains true to the spirit of its founders. It continues to support a broad range of charitable and educational activities, and to encourage and promote the highest standards of woodworking craftsmanship. The Company has its own Building Crafts College with over 700 students, housed in purpose built premises in Stratford, East London, just 200 metres from the main 2012 Olympic site; it maintains historic Almshouses in Godalming; and manages a convalescent home, open to all, at Rustington on the West Sussex coast.

During his year of office, Peter will preside at the Company's Court meetings and various entertainments, including the November Livery Dinner attended by the Lord Mayor of London and the Sheriffs. With his wife Ann, Peter will represent the Carpenters' Company at a wide variety of functions in London, including at the Guildhall, the Mansion House and St. Paul's Cathedral. Further afield he will visit York, Glasgow and Sheffield, as well as visiting the Company's Service affiliates, the Royal Navy's new Type 45 destroyer HMS Daring, and 4 RIFLES.

Further information on the Carpenters' Company and its work is to be found at www.thecarpenterscompany.co.uk.

Dear Friends

I recently went on a prayer and painting retreat holiday. Most of the people on it had been painting and sketching for years and were very good at it, though there is always room for improvement as there is for us in all the other walks of life. We never stop growing and developing in our lives for good or bad.

I needed help and one morning we were given a talk about perspective. All drawing seem to really be about being still focusing and really observing... seemed a good lesson in many different parts of our lives ... I was interested to see how our minds and hearts can often come to the wrong conclusion about things, often as when we read especially if at speed and we interpret words by their shape as much as the letters in them, how we can often completely misread what is before us, another lesson....

We had a lesson in perspective, and I tried to draw a building. At the end of all this I felt dejected.

The horizon and the vanishing point meet off the page, out of sight in a mysterious invisible place, even in the navel of my neighbour nest to me, but only in the place of the imagination.

The creation waiting to emerge out of the flat white page is unformed, impatient for birth, trapped in a place of frustration, if yearning would give it life it would be easy.

Somehow I felt I had discovered something about life in general, a bit of self knowledge, a lesson about the nature of the spiritual life

May God Bless us all in the present moment

Nicola
